

 Join

 Login

Keyword Search

Listings

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 5.5 million to 7.5 million (Office for National Statistics 2000). The number of people aged 85 and over has increased from 1.5 million to 2.5 million in the same period.

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop services to meet the needs of older people, and a number of initiatives have been launched in the UK to address this need. The Department of Health has launched the 'Age Friendly' initiative, which aims to make the UK a more age-friendly country by 2010. This initiative is based on the World Health Organization's (WHO) 'Age Friendly' framework, which identifies six key areas for action: (1) physical environment, (2) social environment, (3) health and healthcare, (4) participation, (5) respect and social equality, and (6) good governance.

The 'Age Friendly' initiative is a cross-departmental effort, involving the Department of Health, the Department of the Environment, the Department of Transport, the Department of Education, and the Department of Work and Pensions. The initiative is based on the principle that older people should be able to live in their own homes and communities, and to participate in the activities of their communities. The initiative aims to achieve this by making the physical and social environments more age-friendly, and by ensuring that older people have access to the services and support they need.

The 'Age Friendly' initiative is a long-term effort, and it will take time to achieve its goals. However, it is a positive step towards making the UK a more age-friendly country. The initiative is based on the principle that older people should be able to live in their own homes and communities, and to participate in the activities of their communities. The initiative aims to achieve this by making the physical and social environments more age-friendly, and by ensuring that older people have access to the services and support they need.

The 'Age Friendly' initiative is a long-term effort, and it will take time to achieve its goals. However, it is a positive step towards making the UK a more age-friendly country. The initiative is based on the principle that older people should be able to live in their own homes and communities, and to participate in the activities of their communities. The initiative aims to achieve this by making the physical and social environments more age-friendly, and by ensuring that older people have access to the services and support they need.

The 'Age Friendly' initiative is a long-term effort, and it will take time to achieve its goals. However, it is a positive step towards making the UK a more age-friendly country. The initiative is based on the principle that older people should be able to live in their own homes and communities, and to participate in the activities of their communities. The initiative aims to achieve this by making the physical and social environments more age-friendly, and by ensuring that older people have access to the services and support they need.

The 'Age Friendly' initiative is a long-term effort, and it will take time to achieve its goals. However, it is a positive step towards making the UK a more age-friendly country. The initiative is based on the principle that older people should be able to live in their own homes and communities, and to participate in the activities of their communities. The initiative aims to achieve this by making the physical and social environments more age-friendly, and by ensuring that older people have access to the services and support they need.

The 'Age Friendly' initiative is a long-term effort, and it will take time to achieve its goals. However, it is a positive step towards making the UK a more age-friendly country. The initiative is based on the principle that older people should be able to live in their own homes and communities, and to participate in the activities of their communities. The initiative aims to achieve this by making the physical and social environments more age-friendly, and by ensuring that older people have access to the services and support they need.

The 'Age Friendly' initiative is a long-term effort, and it will take time to achieve its goals. However, it is a positive step towards making the UK a more age-friendly country. The initiative is based on the principle that older people should be able to live in their own homes and communities, and to participate in the activities of their communities. The initiative aims to achieve this by making the physical and social environments more age-friendly, and by ensuring that older people have access to the services and support they need.

Our Mission

SemoMLS.com provides real estate buyers and sellers an easy way to view properties for sale. Real Estate professionals can join, list and have access to thousands of previously sold properties.

Information You Can Count On

A Service of Creative Design Group

info@semomls.com

Quick Links

residential

commercial

lots/acreage

advanced search

location search

members

join

advertise

about us

calculator

alerts

home

rules & regs

disclaimer

Find us on Facebook

Fair Housing Declaration

Designed & Hosted By: Creative Design Group

Login • Feed Signup